AuSable Group Turned Thumbs Down On New Canoe Livery

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The AuSable River Watershed Study Council at their regular meeting advised against a zoning change to accommodate new canoe livery at Frederic. The proposed livery would utilize the stretch of the AuSable from south of Frederic to the Pollock bridge north of Grayling.

The council felt that it would be self-defeating to permit this when a special committee was at this time studying ways to step the increase in the number of canoes using the AuSable system. Little thought had been given to this part of the river because it was felt that it was not a canoeing stream.

The council received recommendations brought to it by the land use committee. The report dealt in detail with the various points and comments along the AuSable system. Primarily it made recommendations for the Department of Natural Resources to carry out in improving these areas.

It is felt that improvement of these facilities are necessary to accommodate the present number of people using them as well as the additional future users.

Campsites will be improved to accommodate off street campers and canoe campers. Where ever possible there will be a separation of the two types of camps. Riparian owners of Bradford Lake asked for an opinion about the development of that lake. This was deferred until the next meeting so that more information could be gathered about the situation.

Bradford Lake is on Bradford Creek which is part of the head waters of the Main Stream of the AuSable River.

Easter Seal Campaign On

Since the first Easter Seals were mailed to American homes, millions of dollars have been translated into rehabilitation and research. Nearly one quarter of a million disabled persons benefit annually from Easter Seal Medical diagnosis, therapy, pre-school, school, workshops, camps and itinerant and mobile therapy programs.

One in every thousand babies born in the United States has spina-bisida and congenital defects in which the spinal cord is left unfinished. The Easter Seal research investigation into the causes and prevention of this paralyzing birth defect are financed by Easter Seal campaigns.

The National Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its affiliates have a nationwide dollar network of the most modern and effective facilities for the physically handicapped. The rehabilitation service given to the crippled children is financed by contributions to the 1971 Easter Seal Campaign, March 1 to April 11.

Lily Days will be held April 2 and 3 this year. The Elementary School children are being asked to participate in the selling of Easter Lilies. This gives them a way to learn how to help those less fortunate. Please be generous when these children come around. Prizes are awarded to the three children collecting the most money and a party is held for all children participating.

Mrs. Nemitz, charged with the fatal shooting last Nov. 10 of Walter L. Denton, 37, of Southgate, was tried in Crawford County Circuit Court with Judge Dennis J. O'Keefe presiding. The trial lasted five days.

The shooting occurred outside the cottage home of Mrs. Nemitz, located a mile and a half north-west of Frederic, on Cameron Bridge Road, and at the time, Denton was pronounced dead of a gun shot wound in the upper left chest, by Crawford County Coroner, Derek McEvers.

Snowmobile Rally At Higgins Lake

Family fun is slated for this weekend as the Higgins Lake Business Association sponsors its first annual Jackpine Snowmobile Rally. The event is scheduled to start at 9:00 Saturday morning. Trophies will be awarded.

Snowmobile enthusiasts from 14 years up are invited to test their skill at the rally which will be run through an established snowmobile trail. The event is unique, explained Lou Redmon, Association representative in that speed will not be the determining factor in judging winners. Bonfires, saaris through wild timberland and ice fishing expeditions on Higgins Lake are planned for the remainder of the weekend. The rally starting point may be reached by taking the south Higgins Lake exit (County Road 104) off I-75, and following the marker signs.

As Mr. Redmon says, "the welcome mat is out for those who want a weekend of family fun. There's plenty of snow, and refreshments will be served at the rally location."

Robinson-Everson Vows Spoken

The marriage vows of Mary A. Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson of Grayling, and Michael L. Everson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Welch of Frederic, were spoken at Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church, Sunday, Feb. 22. Rev. Paul Frederick performed the four o'clock ceremony before 100 guests. Debbie Nethers presided at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a demi-bell silhouette gown of angel skin pearl and lace. Chantilly lace adorned the high collar, bodice and hem. Matching lace edged her mantilla veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of daisies and mums.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bruce Rickley of Norwalk, Ohio. She wore a floor length empire-styled gown of yellow taffeta under dotted swiss daisy print. Bridesmaid was Betty Robinson, sister of the bride. Her gown was styled like the matron of honors and was of green lace over green taffeta with a green velvet bolero jacket. Both attendants carried baskets of multi-colored daisies.

The groom, who is in the U.S. Navy, wore his dress blues uniform for the wedding. His attendants were Ben Vollmer of Frederic, who served as best man, Mickey Haas of Frederic, groomsmen, and Ken Secord of Grayling, Ron Everson and Dennis Everson, both of Frederic, brothers of the groom, ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Frederic Town Hall. Decorations were in blue and white with daisies as the floral decoration. A handmade heart centerpiece and candles decorated the tables.

Following a 12-day honeymoon trip to Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, with a trip to Niagara Falls, the groom returned to Great Lakes Naval Station where he is attending medical school. The bride is at the home of her parents completing her senior year at Grayling High School.

The groom is a 1969 graduate of Grayling High School and attended Kirtland Community College for one year before entering the Navy.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Robinson chose a jersey dress of antique rose print on blue, with black accessories and a white rose corsage.

Mrs. Welch, mother of the groom, wore a lavender suit with white accessories and also had a corsage of white roses.

Out of town guests attending the ceremony were from Ohio, Frederic, Mio, Gaylord, St. Clair Shores and Roscommon.

All That Glitters is Not Gold

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

Our American economies has always been based on an expanding population and expanding uses of natural resources. It reminds me of a colony of aphids which keeps growing until the plant upon which they are feeding succumbs along with the colony of insects.

We humans don't seem to do much better. We ride a good thing to death. When the country was first settled, people would run down one farm and move to a new one. This occurred until there just were no new farms to move to.

We exploited our Michigan forests until there was no more tall timber to harvest. What are we going to do when there is no more land to subdivide? What are we going to do when there are no more rivers or lakes, or when the land is covered with highways?

Many people are becoming concerned with how our land is being misused today. An example is an editorial in January, February issue of "Soil and Water Conservation." The editor says, "Illustrative of the conflict between local governmental land use decisions and optimum long-term resource planning is what might be termed the 'Chamber of Commerce Syndrome.' In simplified terms, this syndrome suggests that economic development, as locally perceived, is good per se. The empirical observations that immediate expansion of economic activity is more than offset by both resource strain and disproportionate increases in the costs of local governmental service are ignored. The high probability that economic development may destroy the conditions that initially made the local area attractive to present as well as potential residents is likewise ignored. Thus local government continues to plan land use for short-term development in the face of a self-defeating cycle for even local preferences."

Local officials are beginning to realize that an influx of new people not only raises the taxing base but also increases the demand for new services. Among services needed are new and larger school facilities. Other services needed are new and larger solid waste disposal facilities, to say nothing of sanitary systems.

Memo from Merrily

By Merrily Baldwin
Extension Home Economist

HOME SEWING EXPLODES INTO PROMINENCE

FACT: There are more sewing machines in American homes than there are bathtubs.

FACT: Two out of every seven garments worn by women and children in this country are made at home.

What's the who, why, and how of the home sewing boom?

The average home sewer is young — in the 18-30 bracket and most often a teenager or young mother. She's above average in intelligence and income. Most have some college or business training. She has a strong interest in fashion.

Economy is one of the reasons for the popularity of home sewing. Since much of the cost of ready-to-wear clothes is due to labor, the very skilled home sewer can turn out a dress fairly comparable to the best couture for a fraction of the cost.

A home sewer's time and labor have a money value too, so the economic advantage is still as great as it may seem. Still, an "economically flavored" reason justifies an activity which, for many people, is "pleasure-based."

Most women sew for the creative satisfaction it gives them. In an age where many jobs are segmented into small and unrewarding tasks, sewing is one project with an individual and tangible results.

The stigma of sewing has disappeared. Today's home sewer is too young to remember the Depression of the 1930's, so she's not ashamed to wear a dress she made herself.

A common compulsion among home sewers is to stockpile fabrics they've bought. And they sew a garment at the last minute for a specific occasion. They also visit ready-to-wear departments often to keep up with current fashions.

The most popular patterns are separates, simple styles that can be made in an evening or two, and those offering a variety of looks from a single pattern.

Statistics from pattern companies show that sales increase when a particular style is hard to find in ready-to-wear. In addition to dealing in these less common styles, all the pattern companies have become more fashion conscious — interpreting fashions in a variety of contemporary ways.

Since pattern companies deal in tissue paper instead of fabric, they can duplicate a new look faster than a ready-to-wear manufacturer. Some of the more important new looks are produced in pattern form as quickly as 6 to 10 weeks after the original showing.

Home sewing has become a worthwhile and exciting activity for many people. But it may not be so for everyone. Consider these questions.

Do you have the ability and energy to sew the kinds of clothes you like?

If you see sewing as a hobby, can you keep it that way and interrupt it for other demands?

Do you value the design and fabric, the look of exclusive, expensive, ready-to-wear clothes which you cannot afford?

Do you have not only the necessary sewing skill, but also the ability to interpret fashion for yourself? Can you visualize a becoming design by looking at a picture and a piece of fabric?

Do you have the equipment and space sufficient for the kind of sewing you want to do?

And, most important, do you LIKE to sew?

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

If we could build a fence around the world, would we respect our limitations and live happily with one another? Would we stop wars? Probably not!

You can fence in physical objects but not the minds and hearts of mankind.

Nor can we be forced to live in peace. Peace comes through practicing love, faith and tolerance—an understanding of God and His Church. Then, remember World Day of Prayer. Determine not to build a fence around yourself, or around anyone else. Instead, enlarge your horizons through the common voice of prayer.

What better place to start than in the Church?

Boys' Club Week

Commenting on the tendency of politicians to glorify the common man, former President Herbert Hoover once said, "Let us remember that the great human advances have not been brought about by mediocre men and women. They were brought about by distinctly uncommon people. . . . It is a curious fact that when you get sick you want an uncommon doctor; if your car breaks down you want an uncommonly good mechanic. . . . I have never met a father and mother who did not want their children to grow up to be uncommon men and women. May it always be so. . . ."

These words are inscribed on a plaque which was presented by the Boys' Clubs of America to the Vice President of the United States, Spiro T. Agnew. The Boys' Clubs organization is scheduled to celebrate National Boys' Club week March 28 to April 3. The purpose of National Boys' Club week is to promote the cause of juvenile delinquency and to draw attention to the work of 880 local Boys' Clubs to achieve this goal. Mr. Herbert Hoover served the Boys' Clubs for 23 years as national board chairman. He believed there was no such thing as a common man, and he instilled this belief in thousands of youths during his years of inspiring leadership of the Boys' Clubs.

Today, there is nothing common about the Boys' Clubs of America. It has opened the door of opportunity and hope to millions of boys. It is an uncommon organization. It deserves the hearty support of all of us — not just for a week, but all through the year.

LORIS, S.C., SENTINEL: "As the year closed most folks in the business race, be it ever so humble, started a little comparison with the year before to see how they did. If the volume was up, they figured they did pretty well and if it decreased, then things were not so good. But with inflation in the world what it is, if your business didn't increase by ten percent or more, you didn't do as well as a year ago. But then there's April 15, coming up soon. Whether you did well or not, by the time you get through paying taxes you will figure you must have made some money somewhere. But where is it?"

Tornado Season Approaching

Devastating tornadoes in other parts of the country serve as a reminder of Michigan's forthcoming tornado season, according to Col. John R. Plants, State Police director and head of the State Civil Defense unit.

"Over the past 50 years, April has produced the greatest number of tornadoes in Michigan," Plants said. "Our tornado season runs about four months (April through July) but, we've been struck as late as October."

Plants emphasized that local warning systems are still the best defense against loss of life in a tornado experience. He urged local enforcement agencies, Civil Defense units and citizens to establish reporting procedures for early warning communications. "The State Police and the National Weather Service are cooperating to provide coordination of national, state and local resources," Plants said.

Civil defense officials advise knowing the difference between an announced tornado "watch" and tornado "warning." A tornado watch is used to alert the public to the possibility that tornadoes may develop over a certain area. A tornado warning means that a tornado has been sighted in the area or its presence is indicated by radar. When a tornado signal or alarm is sounded, officials advise taking cover immediately. In open country a ravine or ditch affords some protection while basements or underground cellars will afford shelter for those at home or work.

Michigan had three confirmed tornadoes in 1970 resulting in more than $50,000 damage. No loss of life was reported in 1970, nor in any year since 1965 when 53 people were killed in the Palm Sunday tornadoes of April 11.

Jack Pine's Stump

Did you notice how many Irish there were around town Wednesday? I saw enough green to last me for a year or two. And the blarney — wow! It seems that St. Patrick's Day thing gets bigger every year — probably due to the simple fact that there are more Irish. It's the only special day of the year when symbols are even more glaring the next morning. On the 17th the Leprechauns are green, but on the 18th they are purple, yellow, red and even striped. Wierd.

There's a Zoning Board meeting Frederic in a week or so to consider a re-zoning request so that a canoe livery can be put in just south of town. There's bound to be some controversy, but usually it never happens until too late... after the zoning board has acted. If those citizens who are against a zoning change as well as those who are for it show up at these meetings and let their feelings be known, then there wouldn't be any reason for complaining after the fact. The basis of democracy is that the will of the people be known. And if they're too "busy" to let it be known, that's just tough luck.

Unusual it is to see news releases from governmental agencies which have any human or personality. But from the Recreational and Travel Division of the State of Arkansas comes this, which I quote in part: "On your next Arkansas vacation, the greatest show on earth awaits you to delight your senses — limited as they are. Stretching from wherever you live to the wonderful Ozarks, outdoors Arkansas extends an invitation and a promise of pleasure. More than the kaleidoscope delights of any three ring big top performance, the wide open outdoors of Arkansas... from our restful delta lands where you to the mountains where even your thoughts echo back to haunt you with their misty memories, the infinitely different variety of all that is Arkansas... enables you to enjoy more personal thrills of discovery than the limited joys of any circus."

Snow Removal Costs Are High This Year

(By Sen. John Toepfer)

While much of lower Michigan has been in the banana belt most of this winter, other areas of the state — including the Upper Peninsula, and even lower Michigan and western Michigan — have been having a rugged time of it. And that probably will mean extra money will be needed for snow removal in those areas.

Unofficially, last winter's snow time fromwood had about 12 feet of snow. Snow in Grand Ironwood has recorded just slightly less than 24 feet of snow — and more is coming almost daily.

A few days back, Houghton county road commission reported more than 200 inches so far this year, compared with about 153 inches the same time last year. That is more than 50 feet more than last year.

Allegan and Berrien counties in western Michigan, which annually have high snow removal costs because of substantial snowfalls — although considerably less than north of the straits — and long winters also are reporting near record falls this year.

By last week, Berrien county had almost approached last season's total of 155 inches — with still more to come. Berrien reported 55 inches.

The State Highway Department reimburses county road commissions for part of their share of snow removal.

By the time the last flake has fallen, it is hoped that the cost of snow removal this winter will be considerably less than last year. Just another burden to add to the backs of Michigan's taxpayers — especially if one can do anything about it.

District Court Action

In District Court last week, the following appeared before Judge Francis J. Bosh:

Neil Tinkon, 34, Grayling, pleaded guilty to reckless driving of a snowmobile and was ordered to pay fine of $40 or five days in jail. He was indicted by City Police on February 12.

Ernest P. Hale, 31, of Grayling pleaded guilty to a charge of D & D and was fined $64 or seven days. He was arrested by Sheriff's deputies on March 12.

Cheryl Sue Sullivan, 26, and William H. Sullivan, 21, both of Kalkaska, entered pleas of guilty to a charge of consuming alcoholic beverages on the highway on March 3. They were each fined $34 or four days in jail. Houghton Lake State Police were the arresting officers.

Gerald Moon, 45, of South Branch Township stood mute on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. He asked that a court appointed attorney be named for him. Bond was set at $7,500. He is being held in the county jail. He was indicted by Sheriff's officers on March 12.

Spring Brings Water Hazards To State Roads

LANSING — "Watch for water on highway pavements," the Department of State Highways warned motorists today.

When ground is still frozen in early spring, melting roadside snows often run the wrong way — onto highway pavements. Freezing night temperatures then turn the pavement water into ice.

Water, itself, is a highway hazard, Department engineers warn. At 60 miles an hour or more, water can cause a car to hydroplane, raising the front wheels off the pavement with resulting loss of control.

Until Old Man Winter has been definitely ousted from the 1971 scene, the Department recommends that all wet spots on highway pavements be approached with extra caution.

Nixon May Be One-Termer

Presidential politics in the United States in the last several years have been in a rather unsettled state, which is not really good for either the presidency itself or for the people of the country.

When Richard Nixon was elected in 1968, many of us assumed — or at least hoped — that things would settle down a bit on the highest level of our nation, and that we could be in for at least eight years of continuity of program and policy for the nation.

But it may not turn out that way at all. At this writing, the Nixon presidency has all the earmarks of being a one-term-and-out experience.

The reason is the same one which drove Lyndon Johnson from the Potomac back to the Perdenales — the war in Southeast Asia.

In fact, things may be even worse for Mr. Nixon than they were for Mr. Johnson. Whereas Mr. Johnson had to talk only about the war in Viet Nam, under Mr. Nixon we have had to learn about new places, such as Laos and Cambodia, in addition to South Viet Nam.

Mr. Nixon's election platform included getting us out of Viet Nam... if not specifically, then it at least was implied. This is what the people understood. And it meant more, too, than getting us out of Viet Nam and into Laos and Cambodia.

So far, steps have been taken to accomplish this. But most of the people don't really believe that the gallbladder of troops under Mr. Nixon's Vietnamization program of turning the war over to the natives is sufficient.

At least, this is what I interpret from one of the later Gallup polls on the matter.

In fact, this Gallup poll could indicate that Mr. Nixon is in more trouble with the people than Mr. Johnson was at the same stage in his presidential career.

Consider these poll results:

As of the date of this particular Gallup poll (February, 1971) more people — 46 percent — expressed disapproval of Nixon's handling of Viet Nam than the 41 percent who expressed approval. This was the first time that more responses were unfavorable than were favorable; the survey closely parallels the Gallup findings on Johnson's handling of the war at the same time in 1967, when 49 percent said "no" and 37 percent said "yes."

—On the almost forgotten "credibility gap" issue, in February of 1967 the Johnson administration had an adverse scorecard of 65 percent who felt the American people were not being told all they should know about the Viet Nam war; the Nixon scorecard in February of 1971 was 69 percent on the same question.

There are polls, and there are polls. They are not infallible, of course. But in light of history, the general accuracy of these polls in the lack of public confidence of the Johnson administration's handling of the war cannot be seriously questioned. At least, former President Johnson obviously gave them some credence.

Many other factors, of course, go into the process the electorate follows in choosing its presidents. Such things as civil strife — or lack of it — and the level of goodies on the dinner table are two of the most important lately.

But peace in the world is probably the number one issue for most people.

And on the basis of these Gallup poll findings — and other similar indicators — Mr. Nixon is not making the grade with the public at the moment.

Things could change, of course... just as things could have changed for the Johnson administration between the February 1967 Gallup findings and the former President's decision in the spring of 1968 that he would not seek a new term. We should all hope that things do change for the better — whether we're for Mr. Nixon or against him.

For one thing, the crisis in Southeast Asia cries for a solution that will in itself help provide a cohesiveness among the people of this country that in turn will help provide solutions to other pressing problems.

And for another, a continuity of leadership in the United States could be a big help, too.

New Tax Rules Apply to Charitable Deductions

Most gifts of property to charity remain fully tax deductible and are not affected by changes in the tax law. However, starting last year, some gifts of property that have appreciated in value may not be fully deductible.

Under present law, if contributed property had appreciated in value and would have resulted in ordinary income or short term capital gain if sold at its fair market value on the date of gift, the amount that represents appreciation may not be deducted. The deduction would be limited to the fair market value less the amount that would have otherwise been ordinary income.

Examples of ordinary income property are business inventory, capital stock held for six months or less, and letters or memoranda given by the person preparing them or by someone for whom they were prepared. For instance, the deduction for a contribution to a church of stock valued at $800, which was purchased for $600 three months earlier, is limited to the $200 cost.

Gifts of capital gain property — property that would have resulted in capital gain if it had been sold on the date of contribution — may have to be reduced by 50 percent of the appreciation, depending on the nature of the property or the charitable organization to which the gift is made. The reduction applies to a contribution of tangible personal property made to a charity which uses the gift for a purpose unrelated to its function. A similar reduction must be made for property donated to certain private non-operating foundations.

Gifts of capital gain property to other qualified charities, which use them for purposes related to their functions, would be fully deductible. For example, stock held for nine months that cost $700 but is worth $1200 at the time of the gift would result in a $500 deduction. Usually, total charitable contributions are limited to 50% of adjusted gross income. However, a 30% limitation applies to capital gain property that is not reduced by 50% of the appreciation, and a 20% limitation applies to certain private non-operating foundations.

Additional information on charitable contributions is in IRS Publication 526, Income Tax Deduction for Contributions, available free from Internal Revenue.

GRIFFIN INSPECTS CAPITOL BOMB DAMAGE—U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) surveys the rubble left by a bomb blast in the Senate wing of the U.S. Capitol. The explosion, on the ground floor of the building, occurred about 50 feet away from Griffin's Senate Republican Whip Office one floor above. The concussion damaged the door jam and the lock on the door to Griffin's office. In the wake of the bombing, Griffin called for Congress to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party, and called for a fully-professional Capitol Police Force. The Michigan Senator noted that nearly one-fourth of the more than 600-man force are college students and others under political patronage.

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

...and get more from the GOOD YEARS

Many citizens who retire from the world of business need or desire some part-time activity that will add income to supplement retirement and social security benefits. Many, however, just want something to do, something that will provide "busy" hours to offset the possible boredom of having nothing to do. If you are retired, and restless, examine your talents. Count the many experiences of your life. Put them down on paper. When you get them down, you will most likely determine that they have a value and may be worth passing on to someone else.

One man who retired after a business career which sent him to the far corners of the earth now spends many enjoyable hours telling others about life in Vietnam, Japan, Germany and other parts of the world. He is not a paid lecturer, but a guest speaker at small groups—civic clubs, boy scout troops, or any other small local organization. He makes a small talk, then answers whatever questions he can in an informal chatting session. He finds retirement far from boring. In one community, a retired carpenter lends his services to the "Toys For Tots" program, helping to repair and refurbish used toys so that less fortunate children in the community will have a merrier Christmas. He works when he wants to, when he can, and enjoys every moment of it. He has made many new friends and a new outlet for new friends and for actively as they offer their services to charitable organizations and activities.

Retirement years are happier years when there is something to do, something to think about, something to anticipate for tomorrow.

The soggy pillow

By Jim Fitzgerald

A romantic guy could get his pillow wet.

Stop right there. If you know what the above sentence means, without reading any further, you win a prize. You win the F. Scott Fitzgerald Memorial Trophy, suitably engraved. But it won't be back from the engravers for several weeks. I'll call you.

Scott Fitzgerald was no relative of mine. But he is my favorite novelist. I was hooked by his "The Great Gatsby" many years ago and never shook loose.

Life magazine, and other slick sources, report that this country is currently having a nostalgic fit over the 1920's and 1930's. Ruby Keeler has returned from the dead to top dance in a Broadway revival of "No, No, Nanette." The country is by Busby Berkley, for Lord's sake. There's a W.C. Fields film festival on every channel. And isn't that Ricardo Cortez leering at Dolores Del Rio?

I love the memories — and I'm doing my part to keep them alive. Scott Fitzgerald glowed in the 20's, and dimmed in the 30's, always fascinating. So I just read "Zelda," the splendid biography of Fitzgerald's wacky wife, and "The Garden of Allah," the incredible tale of a Hollywood motel written by Sheila Graham, the gossip columnist who was Fitzgerald's mistress.

Which finally brings us to the subject of the day, that pillow that might have got wet. Here's a paragraph Sheila wrote about Scott:

"The Garden. I always went there with Scott on Saturday after lunch at the Hollywood or Beverly Hills Brown Derby. There was the time I took a bath in his apartment, and he came in and put a pillow under my head. That small gesture bound me to him forever."

Ah. He pillowed her as she bathed and, presto! she was his forever. That devil.

How many of us mortal slob would think to do a thing like that? I didn't even know women like pillows in their tubs. I certainly had no idea a life-long conquest could be made simply by dipping a pillow.

I can't even understand how Scott got in the bathroom. My wife always locks the door.

I asked her about the pillow business. She said if I gave her a pillow in the tub she would sit on it. Somehow that doesn't sound so romantic.

"But would such a romantic gesture bind you to me forever?" I asked.

"I would be more impressed if you would take the Christmas lights off the front of the house before July," she said.

"F. Scott Fitzgerald is remembered as one of the most romantic men ever. Don't you want me to be like him?" I asked.

"He drove his wife insane and he died a drunk," she said.

"Yes," I said. Onward and Upward.

Consumers and Intervenor

Settle Palisades Nuclear Dispute

KALAMAZOO — Spokesmen for Consumers Power Company and the groups which have intervened in AEC licensing proceedings to contest the issuance of an operating license for the Company's Palisades Nuclear Power Plant on Lake Michigan in Covert Township, Van Buren County, Michigan, today announced that the parties have entered into a settlement agreement.

The Company announced that it will proceed with a program to install and operate, under AEC license limitations, cooling towers and an essentially zero radioactive liquid release system at the Palisades Plant. The modifications will be a major undertaking and may take several years to complete. It is contemplated that the plant will operate as presently constructed while the work is being done.

Under the settlement agreement, installation of the modifications is conditioned upon receipt of an order of the Michigan Public Service Commission approving the Company's execution and performance of the settlement agreement.

The settlement agreement also provides that the intervenors will agree to the immediate issuance of a license to permit the Company to load fuel and begin low-power testing at the plant. When the Public Service Commission approval and a full-power AEC license are obtained, the intervenors will also withdraw from the AEC proceeding and waive all rights of appeal on the issues they have been contesting.

The proposed cooling towers will be of the mechanical or natural draft type. Except for the cleansing of lake water residues from the towers, they will form a closed circuit in which heated condenser cooling water will be cooled and recirculated for use in the plant.

The modifications to the liquid radioactive waste system will essentially eliminate radioactive liquid discharges under normal conditions. The existing system would release some radioactivity, although at levels substantially below current AEC limits.

A spokesman for the intervening groups urged approval and installation of the modifications as soon as possible, describing the Company's program as a major advance toward protection of the environment through utilization of the latest and best technology.

The intervenors' spokesman also said: "We hope and trust that all state and federal agencies whose approval is required for these modifications will move quickly to permit the parties to carry out their agreement, which we believe will assure the environmental protection we have been seeking and is thus in the public interest."

Spokesmen for both parties expected that the AEC hearing can be concluded in the near future and that issuance of a full-power operating license will soon follow.

Failure To Sign Tax Return Delays Refunds

Detroit, Mich. — So far this year 13,062 Michigan taxpayers have not received their expected tax refunds simply because they failed to sign their federal income tax returns before filing them.

Since an income tax return is a legal document, it must be signed before the Internal Revenue Service can process it and issue a refund. Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said today. Signatures of both husband and wife are required on joint returns, he added.

To help reduce the number of missing signatures, Form 1040 shows the signature line — and other error-prone information areas — highlighted in red ink.

Other causes of delayed refunds are missing Social Security numbers, arithmetic mistakes, and failure to follow instructions accompanying the tax forms. Mr. Cardoza asked taxpayers to use the blue preaddressed name label that came on the cover of the package containing their blank Form 1040. The top part of the label should be removed from the package and placed on the tax return. If the return is prepared by someone other than the taxpayer, we urge the taxpayer to give the label to the preparer and ask him to use it on the return to be filed with IRS. Use of the label allows the IRS to process the return faster without verifying the taxpayer's identification.

So far this year, the IRS Service Center in Cincinnati has processed 910,261 refunds worth $282,008,978. Mr. Cardoza reports.

Richard Holcomb Receives Degree

Holcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon G. Holcomb, 6150 Cedar St. Grayling, who earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics. He graduated with high honors according to word received from the University.

EDITOR'S MAIL BOX

To The Editor:
The weekend of March 12-13, I went over to Alpena for a Senior Board meeting. It was an experience I won't forget. Friday night, after our first meeting the girls from the Alpena Senior troop had planned a slumber party. But as it ended up we didn't get to sleep until 4:30 a.m. or so. The bad thing about it was that we had to be out of there by 5:30 a.m.

Another bad thing about it was that I was the only Senior Scout from Grayling. I wish more girls would join Girl Scout Duval, Charlie F. Feldhauser, Earl Ferguson, Marlene Ferguson, Jessie Gerhard, Patricia Greer, Charles Hubbell, Cindy Johnson, Mary McNeven, Edward Malinowski, Howard Moore, Arthur Nolan, and Nancy Smith. Samantha Smith, Andrew Spencer, Mary Walker, and ory Committee. In the Big Water-Brock Weaver all of Grayling; ten Council area there are less Della Jenkins, Emil Krause, and Raymond Norton of Frederic. Most of all the girls in the 10th. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Michael on March 20. He weighed 8 pounds, 9 ounces.
